[I ate steak when I shouldn't have... It was great in the moment but now? Everything feels strange. My eyes kept zooming into every passerby like some sort of camera. I figured I shouldn't eat anything after that. Lessen the impact of whatever's going on now. I think it's working so far.]

“Surely mere words drop dead when it comes to fulfillment?”

“You'd be surprised.”

“Nothing surprises me dear!”

[Forrest paused shortly after speaking. I don't know what to say either. There are few topics of conversation that I could think of.. Ah. Maybe…]

[No, I couldn’t think of anything. For a second I even consider leaving, but that was before Forrest chirped himself.]

“You ever wonder the taste of flowers?”

“Don't tell me you want to eat one.”

“Well.”

“There was one scene in my life. I boiled and seasoned a few dandelions! Proceeded to consume their soupiness.”

[I didn't know what Forrest was hinting towards, but I do agree with the last part. A break would be nice.]

“The speech. It was a roommate invitation!”

“Really...”

[We have been friends for a while. I wouldn't mind that.]

“You know what… why not?”

[I could tell Forrest was trying to contain himself, but he failed to dumb his smile. Seeing it was somewhat contagious.. I couldn't help but do the same myself, subtly. The expression still didn't go very far.]

“NAME, I will not let you lay!”

“I've been wanting to take a nap.”

“Did you not sleep enough today?”

“No.”

“Awh, NAME. I should've asked about your tiredness beforehand instead of babbling about books! I'll leave you be.”

<wait.>

“Where are you going Forrest? You can stay.”

“You won't mind?”

If closer x
“Depends.”
Forrest shifts

“Thank you so much!”

“Hunting would be nice. I could teach you a few things too.”

“As in small animals? Human beings?”

“NAME… you shouldn't.. um.”

“Are movies alright?”

I'm Helping. - You're a problem he can't solve.. But there is a way he can lessen it. Upset Forest. Anger Oscar? Hurt must be high, affection must be high

Wait this is basically release but without anyone dying.. Okay I might scrap this

[I went into the kitchen to make myself something as a distraction. Forrest didn't have much.. so I had to grab a few chicken slices to eat instead.]

Click

[Forrest finally walked out.]

Forrest sits at the dining table

[-extend He avoids me completely, not that I'm surprised. Only makes a cereal bowl for himself as well.]

[I turn my attention back to the tv.]

"Not even going to say anything?"

<I'm sorry.>
+5 affection
[Forrest's frown didn't let up at all, but I did see his gaze soften a bit.]

"What am I going to do with you."(small text?)

Jump what a shame ending

If affection x
[Halfway through his bowl he comes to sit next to me. I could feel him staring also.]

"I didn't think I'd lose control like that."

[Forrest shifts in his seat. I was hoping it'd be towards my side as silly as the thought was.]

"It was bound to happen."

Pause

[I blink and he's by me in an instant. Will he forgive me after all?]

[What should I say…]

Aftermath

Sitting on a park bench with NAME, playing with his scarf

“Forrest.”

“Hm?”

“It's warm outside. Why are you always wearing a coat?”

“In case it gets cold.”
